

Engineering World Health Seeks Individuals to Join Board of Directors

Engineering World Health, is looking for motivated new members to join our Board of Directors. Do you have a passion for global health and education? Are you willing to donate some time for a worthy cause?

Engineering World Health is 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization with 20 years of experience serving engineering students, healthcare professionals, communities around the world, empowering them to use their skills to improve global health. Our mission is to inspire, educate, and empower the biomedical engineering community to improve health care delivery in the developing world.

Currently, our Board includes members with strengths and skills in accounting, legal, fundraising/development, and biomedical engineering/healthcare industry experience.

We are seeking new members:

- with medical/clinical expertise, especially those with international experience to countries we serve in Central America, East and West Africa, and Southeast Asia
- with health technology and/or academia expertise as we expand our STEM outreach work and create more robust curriculums for our students
- with diverse perspectives and lived experiences; we aim to support many underserved communities across the world and want our board membership to be reflective of this diversity of backgrounds and skills.

As a board member, you will be responsible for:

- Attending quarterly meetings (2 hours) and serving on one of three committees (finance, development, governance) that meet quarterly (1 hour).
- Actively participating in Board affairs by staying informed about committee matters, preparing for meetings, and reviewing minutes and reports.
- Aid in strategic planning efforts and participating in fundraising and relationship building for the organization.
- Making an annual contribution to Engineering World Health of at least $1,200. However, we do not want financial limitations to dissuade interested, qualified applicants; a lower contribution can be discussed upon request.

It is the policy of EWH to grant equal opportunity to all qualified persons without regard to actual or perceived age, religion, marital status, sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, breast feeding or related medical conditions), gender identity or gender expression, race, sexual preference or orientation, national origin, color, or disability, partnership status, familial status, pregnancy status, medical condition, genetic predisposition, genetic information, protected medical leaves, domestic violence victim status, sex offense or stalking victim status, political affiliation and any and all other characteristics or categories protected by applicable federal, state or local laws.

If interested, please email CEO@ewh.org with your resume by March 1, 2022. We aim to fill these roles by April 2022 in time for our next board meeting.
